

Ribera del Duero

Bodegas Torremorón

Torremorón is an Estate Bottle Wine made by Bodegas Torremorón in the Denominación de Origen Ribera del Duero. The word Torremorón means the Tower of the Moors in English. Ribera del Duero possesses great contrast of day and night temperatures. As an example, during August, day temperatures will hit the 100's and at night the 50's. this broad swing of temperatures allows the Tempranillo grape to develop thicker skins and achieve greater skin to juice ratios. As a result we find that the Tempranillo grape has its greatest expression of color and intensity of flavor in this region.

GRAPE 100% Tempranillo from 80 to 100 year old vines. Tended on a head prune trellised system.

PRODUCTION 65,000 Cases made, 10,000 imported to the U.S.

VINIFICATION Night time harvest in small boxes. Maceration before fermentation during 3 days at 50° F temperatures; 15% fermented in Oak vats of 3,000 lit barrel and 70% in Stainless Steel Tank. postmaceration for 20 days. Malolactic fermentation takes place in cement tanks.

LOCATION In the town of Quintanamanvirgo (population of 94 people), at an altitude of 2,703 ft. (824 m) within the eastern sub-region of the Ribera del Duero DO (Zone 2).

SOIL Plateau/flat landscape composed of thin particles of clay mixed with sand and limestone. This soil composition is good at retaining the little water that this part of Spain gets. The age of the vines (80 to 100 years) produce consistent healthy grape; yields of 5.5 pounds (2.5 Kg) of grapes per vine.

CLIMATE The average temperature between April and October is 59.8° F. A Continental climate with hot days and cool nights, during the growing season, and moderately low annual rainfall levels (17.9 in.) providing a longer ripening period, resulting in greater complexity and the evident expressive aromatic intensity. The Ribera del Duero's (Burgos) eastern sub-region has a cooler climate than Rueda or Toro, due to its higher altitude. The wines produced here are usually darker, more concentrated and aromatic than wines made in the western part of Ribera del Duero.

What makes Torremorón Unique? One of the most intense, pure and bright Tempranillo wines you will ever taste. 80 to 100 year old vines! Incredible value. Very consistent in quality year after year.
